Reviews

It is a single of the best book. This is for those who state there had not been a well worth reading through. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

November 6th, 10 A. m. --We left Bombay harbour yesterday evening about five oclock, and were probably not within sight of the light-house at midnight. Abercromby, Malcolm, Newbolt, Erskine, and c. and c. and c. came with me to the water side. The round-house on the larboard side is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Rickards and their daughter. In front of them is a small cabin with Simon and William Campbell and Henry Stephenson. In front of them, and immediately upon the quarter-deck, is my spacious apartment of nine feet square with one side port, two windows to the deck, and a sliding door; behind is a sofa convertible into a bed, above which is hung your picture. I sit at my desk placed on the old library-steps-table, fronting the deck; on my left is the wash-hand locker and a large camphor-wood trunk, with books and papers. The starboard side of the round-house is occupied by Forbes. We are now nearly off Bancoot. We have a pleasant though not a perfectly fair breeze, and the thermometer is at 82. Thus much as an introduction, which I have written amidst as many noises and distractions as ever tried the presence...
